Interpret Laws With Free Picture Shows In Municipal Playgrounds

In several of the larger cities of the country the desires of the citisens to be amused and to be educated are being gratified by the public playground directors at the same time-with motion pictures. Metion picture men are rather opposed to free motion pictures in public parks.

They are opposed to them for reasons of self-preservation. It must be admitted that they have some justice in their plea that to put on free motion pictures the city government is hurting the r businessbusiness in which they have invested money under the protection of the city, which means they have paid out large sums to comply with municipal regulations, whereas the average municipal park shows costs the city-little more than the price of a screen and the rental of the

If the city confines itself to the sort of film shows that are called educational-which the exhibitor has not been able to make pay-the exhibitor has not so much complaint to make, although he is still a complainant. However, the city shows that are being given in the several cit es of the country to which reference has been made, are made up largely of kinds of films that are educational in municipal affairs and it would seem that films have a special mission in this direction.

To the average layman law is an unfathomable mystery. It is necessary to hire a lawyer to get even an opinion as to what the law realmeans, and then this opinion is liable to numerous constructions until it is finally construed by the Supreme Court of the structions until it is finally construed by the Supreme Court of the United States. To the average citizen municipal regulations are more intricate than statute law because of their multiplicity, their peculiar wording, and their vital effect on the citizen's daily life.

If the average man is given a definite reason for anything he can usually understand it and appreciate the necessity for it—if it happens to be a law. Therefore, it is becoming the custom for city fathers in New York and Boston and Chicago to construe their municipal regulations in motion pictures. That means that they translate the laws or regulations into plays which show just what is meant.

The play will show how the law is violated and what happens to violators—quite aside from the punishment that might be meted out for violation of the law. And then the play shows what happens when the law is obeyed. This is particularly compelling when the law thus interpreted has something to do with the health regulations. And the citizens like to see this sort of things, too. They want to learn something about the law and the things the municipal motion pictures show generally.

For instance, in Boston Transcript, spectators varied in number from 4,000 to 12,000—at North End Park on Monday evening the police estimated the attendance at 12,000. So on Monday evening the police esti-mated the attendance at 12,000. So eager were people to see the pic-tures and hear the accompanying music that they discovered for music that they discovered for themselves what the professional theaters have not yet realized. Except that the lettering of titles is reversed, the pictures are quite as perfectly seen on the back of the screen as on its front. Programs are so balanced that the total effect is that of helps entertained not are so balanced that the total effect is that of being entertained, not compulsorily educated.

To illustrate, here are the main features of the park show the other evening on the common." states the Transcript, "Current news by motion pictures: Better Bables, picture illustrating what is being done by the Milk and Baby Hygiene Association; the activities of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union; scenes in Ireland, as the travel feature: mo-Young Men's Christian Union; scenes in Ireland, as the travel feature; motion epigram and quotation slides; sports of the nations; children who labor; comedy feature, 'Billy';' patriotic feature, slides showing President Wilson, followed by the Stars and Stripes, accompanied by the music of 'Star-Spangled Banner'

entertainment is still largely restricted to teaching what the health board would like citizens to know for their own welfare. As films grow better, the opportunities for the Boston idea will multiply. Directors of children's playgrounds may conceivably find added usefulness in guiding adults along methods of amusement no less attractive because free and improv-

State Road Management Yields Best Results

"State road management is a concrete manifestation of the universal demand of the age for efficiency and equity in the management of public affairs," J. E. Pennybacker, chief of road eco-nemics, announces today in a bulletin issued by the Department of Agricul-ture on improved highways.

"Through the establishment of a State highway department," the bulletin continues, "can the best engineering and practical ability be obtained for the benefit of the entire State, as by any other plan only the wealthier counties could afford to obtain such assistance."

First deed of trust notes (first mort-gages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gilt-adge" investments. They do not depend upon the investments. They do not depend upon the porations for their stability, and are exempt from taxaton as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from 100 upward.
